Fund News

Results for the quarter ending 30th June/31st July:

Salesforce reported 29% revenue growth, materially better than expected.

Alibaba reported 34% revenue growth, up from 22% growth in the prior quarter.

Tencent reported 29% revenue growth led by smartphone games (games segment reported 40% growth).

Synopsys reported 13% revenue growth.

Portfolio Changes:

During the month we tactically increased exposure, building positions such as Tencent, Alibaba, Hang Seng Tech index, Salesforce, Visa, Adobe, Facebook, Netflix and Alphabet. We also invested back into Med Tech (via ETF), which is a sector exposure we may build. After the month end, we materially cut back these increased exposures and took profits as the markets fell.

Market Update

Positive 4.8% returns for the Fund outperformed our benchmark comfortably (by 2.5%). However, yet again we lagged behind the Nasdaq in GBP terms (this month by 2.6%). Mark wrote a short LinkedIn article worth reading on why this keeps occurring:

As with all historical performance data, it may not be used to predict future characteristics or performance or relied on in making any investment decisions.

There are various risks associated with investing in any form of business and with investing in the stock market generally. The value of the Ordinary Shares will depend on general stock market and economic conditions as well as the specific performance of the Company.

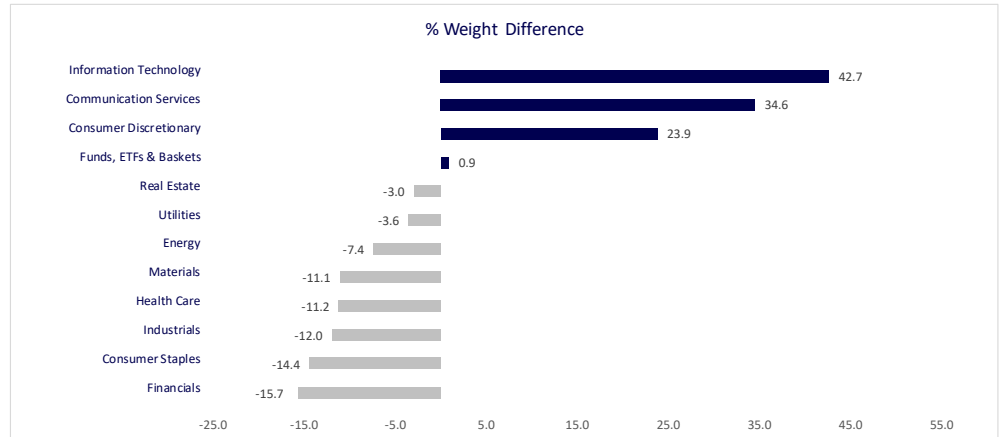

There is no guarantee of the future financial performance and returns achieved by the Company or the price at which the Ordinary Shares will trade on the London Stock Exchange. Share market conditions may affect the price of the Company’s listed securities regardless of operating performance.

Share market conditions are affected by many factors such as: general economic outlook, movement in or outlook on interest rates and inflation rates, currency fluctuations, commodity prices, changes in investor sentiment towards particular market sectors and the demand and supply for capital. As a result, the price of the Ordinary Shares could be highly volatile and can go up or down. Past performance should not be seen as an indication of future performance.

Risk Management (annualised 1 year) (Source: Bloomberg LP, MNL)

Share Price volatility:	37.6%
Portfolio volatility:	26.0%
Sharpe:	1.0x
Benchmark volatility:	27.4%

Portfolio and Benchmark volatility is calculated using the Bloomberg Risk Model on underlying security returns in base currency (GBP). Sharpe is calculated by Bloomberg LP from underlying security returns in base currency (GBP).

Synthetic Risk Reward Indicator (“SRRI”)

The Fund is categorised as a 6 on the SRRI scale, which is calculated based on the Fund’s 5 year annualised NAV volatility. Liquidity, Counterparty & Currency risks are not captured by the scale.

Key Risk Considerations

The value of investments can go down as well as up and investors may not get back the amount originally invested.

Holdings in overseas investments are subject to changes in currency exchange rates, which may cause the value of such investments to go down as well as up.

Gearing, sometimes referred to as leverage, can be used by the Company to borrow to gain additional exposure to investments. Gearing works by magnifying the performance, this can result in either greater losses or profit had the Company not used Gearing.

Derivatives can be utilised by the Company, these instruments also give rise to leverage without the need to borrow. Derivatives may in addition also give rise to counterparty risk, the risk the issuer of the derivative cannot fulfil its obligations (profit that maybe due to the Company).
